So, in case of a lack of funds or excessively large student demands for life, it is recommended to find a decent job, but in such a way that it does not interfere with the successful educational process in the future. So who to become, where to go?

1. Tutoring. This is an ideal option, because you can earn money, and consolidate your knowledge, and educate the "poor" to the mind. In addition, such work does not interrupt from study, because tutoring is most often done in the evening or on weekends. The income is small, but stable.

2. Rewriting and copywriting. In order to master these specialties, you need to be a literate person. Knowledge of the Russian language is especially important, and there is the following pattern: the more languages you know, the higher the income. The task of such an employee is to create unique selling texts, mainly to order. The schedule is free, but the income is real and allows you not to live in poverty.

3. Cleaning of apartments. Today, many students after graduation are engaged in just such an occupation, especially since they are completely satisfied with the work schedule. Pay immediately after completing the task, and there are plenty of cleaning facilities. So there is a certain stability and income in the janitorial profession.

4. Nanny for the child. To get a job as a nanny, you need luck, since many mothers simply do not trust their children to a person without work experience and special pedagogical education. That is why connections are of great importance here, but one cannot count on high incomes "by acquaintance".

5. Watchman or security guard in the supermarket. This job is more suitable for guys - athletes, however, in order to study and not let down a temporary employer, you need to coordinate your work schedule with the schedule of couples, but here unpleasant nuances can arise. You can settle them individually!

6. Distribution of leaflets. This is the easiest and most affordable way of earning money, which is ideal for guys and girls. The work is usually in your area, and the pay is hourly. The main thing is not to cheat, otherwise, instead of the first replenishment of the budget, you can be dismissed in disgrace.

7. Dishwasher or waitress. This is more of an evening and night job that fourth and fifth year students can afford, but chronic sleepiness and nervousness will very soon become a "side effect" of such earnings.

8. The seller is a consultant. You can get a part-time job, and the task of such employees is to talk about the store's products and attract new customers. Nothing complicated, but you have to spend most of your working time on your feet, and after school it is noticeable.

9. Promoter. Today, many students have chosen this type of work, and after couples they are engaged in advertising or presentations of a particular product. The pay is hourly, and the job is promising!

So there is a way out, so stop feeling sorry for yourself and complaining about the lack of money, it's time to start looking for additional work.

Conclusion: I hope that now you will also think about the global question of how much a student spends on food, and how to replenish your budget.
